

Featuring ERIC SZATKOWSKI

While digital technology offers a world of communication, education, and entertainment options for our youth, it also has a dark and dangerous side that parents must be aware of to protect their children. This fast-paced presentation takes an in-depth look into the latest trends in cyber exploitation of children. Eric Szatkowski, retired Special Agent with the Wisconsin Department of Justice/Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) for nearly 25 years, uses real-life case examples and gives unabashed practical advice for anyone interested in the safety and well-being of our children while online or using their phones, tablets, or gaming systems.
